

at the morning libation. The Asuras, defeated on the right side, attacked the centre of the sacrifice. The Devas awoke, posted then Indra, and defeated through his assistance the enemies. Therefore the Brâhmanâcham̐si repeats at the morning libation the Indra Śhastra.

The Asuras, thus defeated, attacked the sacrifice on the northern side. The Devas posted on this side Indrâgnî, and defeated thus the Asuras. Therefore the Achhâvâka repeats the Aindrâgna Śhastra at the morning libation. For by means of Indrâgni the Devas drove the Asuras and Rakshas away from the northern side.

The Asuras, defeated on the northern side, marched arrayed in battle lines towards the eastern part. The Devas awoke and posted Agni eastwards at the morning libation. Through Agni the Devas drove the Asuras and Rakshas away from the eastern front. In the same way the sacrificers drive away from the eastern front the Asuras and Rakshas. Thence the morning libation is Agni's. He who has such a knowledge destroys the evil consequences of his sin.

The Asuras when defeated eastwards, went westwards. The Devas awoke and posted the Vis've Devâh themselves (westwards) at the third libation, who thus drove the Asuras and Rakshas away from the western direction at the third libation. Likewise the sacrificers drive through the Vis've Devâh themselves at the third libation the Asuras and Rakshas away. Thence the evening libation belongs to the Vis've Devâh. He who has such a knowledge destroys the consequences of his sin.

In this manner the Devas drove the Asuras out of the whole sacrifice. Thence the Devas became masters of the Asuras. He who has this knowledge becomes therefore through himself (alone) master of his adversary and enemy, and destroys the con-
