

perceive him (the enemy), then he (the king) should say, "With the death of the rain my enemy shall die and disappear. May they never get aware of him!" Instantly then they do not perceive him (the enemy), for he will be killed.

The moon at the time of the new moon, is absorbed by the sun, &c. When they do not perceive him (the enemy) then (the king) shall say, "With the death of the moon, my enemy shall die, and disappear. May they never get aware of him!" Instantly then they not perceive him (the enemy), for he will be killed.

The sun, when setting, is absorbed by Agni, (fire) &c. The king then shall say, "With the death of the sun my enemy shall die, and disappear! may they never get aware of him!" Instantly then they do not perceive him (the enemy), for he will be killed.

The fire when extinguishing, is absorbed by Vāyu, &c. The king then shall say, "With the death of the fire my enemy shall die and disappear. May they never get aware of him!" Instantly then they do not perceive him (the enemy), for he will be killed.

These (five) deities are then born again. The fire is born out of Vāyu (wind). For it is produced by friction practised with (great) force, and restraining the breath.<sup>5</sup> After having seen the fire new born, the king shall say, "May Agni be born, but may my enemy not be born (again); may he go far off!" Then he goes far off.

Out of fire the sun is born. Having seen him, the king shall say, "May the sun be born, but may my enemy not be born; may he go far off!" Then he goes far off.
